ALEXANDRIA AQUEDUCT.—At a meeting of the City Council of Georgetown, held last Thursday night, a communication from the Mayor was received transmitting the following memorial; which was referred to a committee: To the Hon. Boards of Aldermen and Common Council: The petition of the subscribers respectfully showeth, that they are citizens of Georgetown, who feel a deep interest in its prosperity, and that believing the Aqueduct across its harbor to be a great impediment to its commerce, and that its reconstruction for Canal purposes would be fatal to the future development of the trade which was designed to be secured by the completion of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, therefore, deem it proper that all legal and honorable means should be used to reclaim for the Town, its natural advantages destroyed by the said Aqueduct.-Your petitioners, therefore, desire, as a preliminary step, that eminent counsel be engaged and proceedings, thereafter, be instituted as soon as possible by the proper parties, by injunction or otherwise, to suspend all repairs upon said Aqueduct now being made, and to present for final adjudication before the legal tribunals the question, whether the erection of said Aqueduct was authorized, and whether said structure, so prejudicial to our navigation, is not a common nuisance. Your petitioners further represent that some of them have contributed largely of their private means towards the expenses of prosecuting the appropriate remedies, in the premises, at law, and are willing to contribute further fo the extent of their abilities, but conceive that a matter of such vital importance to the common welfare should not depend upon the efforts of individuals solely, but that its burdens as well as its benefits should be shared by the petitioners at large. Your petitioners, therefore, ask with confidence from your Honorable bodies an appropriation of the most liberal character in aid of the proposed measure, and that the Corporation should also join in any indemnity for damages that may be required. Your petitioners further represent that they have received from counsel of eminent ability satisfatory assurances of success in the undertaking, and they, therefore, respectfully urge upon your consideration that now is the decisive moment, that the present opportunity of action is the best, as it may be the last, that ever will be offered; that now or never must the blow be struck to recover our right, and that after obtaining legal advice, so decided and encouraging, not to assert our rights would seem like inexcusable indifference to them. Signed by Joshua A. Ritchie, H. D. Cooke, D. L. Shoemaker, and forty-two other leading citizens, merchants and manufacturers of the Town.

From the Georgetown Courier of this morning, the following extract is taken :

We rejoice to see that there is now a fair prospect of removing the aqueduct, as a nuisance too intolerable to be borne. Since the lessees of the Alexandria Canal obtained possession of the bridge, the business of this town has suffered materially. Indeed the receipts at least $100 a day by this obstruction to trade. To say nothing of the utter worthlessness of the aqueduct for the passage of boats to Alex andria, the continued retention of it by the lessees of the canal acts materially to the detriment of the business prospects of Georgetown; and no better evidence can be cited that our people are law-abiding than their seeming passiveness in this annoying matter, because almost any other community, we opine, would soon find means for ridding themselves of the encumbrance. We are gratified therefore to know that eminent legal gentleman give it as their opinion that the aqueduct cannot longer be retained for the uses to which those inimical to our interests would gladly apply it, and that an injunction will soon be served prohibiting its further use. As a preliminary measure, a memorial numerously signed, was presented to the City Councils at their meeting on Thursday evening, praying that counsel might be employed to test the right of the Alexandria Canal Company to further impede the commerce of Georgetown. Concert of action, energy, and perseverance is now required of all our people, and the legal right of the town to uninterrupted trade, will ere long be asserted beyond the possibility of doubt."

The whole course of Georgetown, in this matter, has been highly illiberal, unjust, and

NEW STEAMSHIP LINE -At a meeting of the subscribers to the stock of the New York, Alexandria, Washington and Georgetown Steamship Line, held in Washington on Thursday night last, it was stated that about $47,-000 of the $80,000 required for the District quota had been subscribed. Complaint was made by gentlemen who had interested themselves in forwarding this great enterprise, of the apathy exhibited by the people of Washington in regard to it. One gentleman who has labored zealously in canvassing to get the requisite subscriptions, said he was "foot-sore and heart-sore" with the work of tramping about making fruitless appeals to the public spirit of citizens in behalf of an enterprise that promised so much.

A proposition was received from the New York parties interested in the project to organize on the basis of the present subscription so as to get the boats on in season to secure the fall freight business. After some discussion, it was held to be inadvisable to undertake an organization untill the full amount of $80,-000 has been subscribed, so that the controling influence should be held in the District beyond peradventure. Figures and data were given to show that the enterprise cannot well fail to realize a profit of twenty-five per cent. to the stockholders, aside from the general increase to the prosperity of the community insured by it. The canvassing committee was enlarged by adding to it the names of other leading cit-IZERS, and the committee are actively engaged in their public spirited work.
